Partnership Background

Azamara Cruises has partnered with PerryGolf since 2011 in the creation and delivery of high end, all-inclusive fully managed golf cruises to various parts of the world. PerryGolf was founded in 1984, has operations in Wilmington, NC and Helensburgh, Scotland, and is a leading provider of golf adventures to more than forty countries across six continents.

Golf by Sea, Discovery by Design

Our collection of Golf Cruises combines the adventure of boutique cruising with the exhilaration of world-class golf. Traveling aboard Azamara Cruises luxurious 700-guest ships, PerryGolf's select group of 40–50 golfers enjoy an experience that is uniquely intimate both onboard and ashore. Every detail — from tee times and transportation to club handling and course logistics — is seamlessly managed by our dedicated team, allowing guests to focus on the game, the journey, and the joy of discovery.

Thoughtfully curated itineraries, renowned courses, and the ease of unpacking just once create an exceptional blend of luxury, exploration, and unforgettable play along the world's most stunning coastlines.

Golf Cruise Format

The golf cruises are hosted and fully managed by PerryGolf. Itineraries are designed to provide a balance between outstanding golf and Destination Immersion Experiences.

All golf related arrangements and logistics are managed in advance and onsite by PerryGolf. Typically, the golf cruise program will schedule golf on just over half of shore days, allowing golfers a balance of golf and other activities. Beyond golf, guests are free to explore on their own arrangements or via Azamara Shore Excursions.

The ethos of the golf cruise program is to ensure the high level of service guests enjoy onboard the Azamara ships is extended to the overall golf service experience off the ship.

Typical Golf Day

Each guest's golf equipment is managed by PerryGolf from start to finish of the golf cruise. On each golf day your clubs will be taken to the golf course in advance, loaded onto a golf cart (or be waiting with a caddie at certain venues) and be ready for each guest's arrival at the golf course.

Multiple ground transfers from the ship ensure that each guest arrives at the golf course at a time which allows suitable opportunity to warm up before play. A light lunch is provided for consumption on the course during play, sometimes as a box lunch from the ship, or alternatively provided by the golf course. Snacks, soft drinks and water are available during play.

Following golf, guests will relax in the clubhouse with an open bar enjoying a chat about their round and to experience the particular ambience of that club before returning to the ship on the transfer provided.

On one golf day during each cruise an informal competition will be held with individual and fun prizes, an awards ceremony taking place later onboard the ship.

Group Size

The typical golf cruise group size is approximately 40 – 60 golfers with on average a further 10 – 15 non-golfing spouses. The annual cruise including The Open will typically number 150 golfers with a further 40 nongolfing spouses.

Some guests will travel in small relatively self-contained groups, e.g. 2 or 4 couples who know each other, and they have their own golfing partners already arranged. Other guests travel as individual couples or single travelers and are seeking to meet and play golf with other guests, and PerryGolf arranges a variety of golf pairings for these guests, and through this a great many friendships are born. Non-golfing spouses are also perfectly catered for with the range and breadth of Azamara Shore Excursions available.

Social Activities

Many onboard PerryGolf social events are included for participating golfers and non-golfing spouses: welcome cocktails and briefing on the first evening, mid cruise social/awards gatherings, and a final evening farewell event. There is usually a strong bond created within the group, while at the same time all golf group guests remain free to enjoy all the flexibility of social, dining, activity, and entertainment which Azamara Cruises accommodates so well.
